

Anchor

A lot of our time is spent on dark roads
I'm in no hurry to get there, wherever it is that we have to go
Because as long as I am travelling with you then I'm already home
Even if the backseat is your bed, the most important thing to know

Is that I'm your father
Like a ship in a storm I will get lost at sea
And you my son are my anchor
My perfect reminder that my life should be
All in your honour

A lot of our time is spent together and alone
We should be in no hurry to get there, wherever it is that we have to go
Because I now appreciate how our time spent time together is a precious stone
Even if the car window is your TV, the most important thing to know

Is that I'm your father
Like a ship in a storm I will get lost at sea
And you my son are my anchor
My perfect reminder that my life should be
All in your honour

If I'm your star
Then you're my anchor
If I'm your burden
Then you're my saviour
Because I've only ever
Needed saving from myself

If I'm nothing
It's because you're everything to me
If I'm something
It's because my life should be
All in your honour
Honour of you
